THE San Francisco Dramatic Company will give Uncle Tom's Cabin on Saturday evening at the Music Hall, when there should be a crowded audience present. There will be a grand matinee performance for ladies and children in the afternoon at 2 o'clock.

SOME of the hack drivers should be a little more careful in the manner they drive home their patrons from the Music Hall. There is no need of going at a breakneck pace. Last evening two or three persons were nearly run over at the corner of Richard and King streets through this cause.

AN INQUEST.

Yesterday afternoon Coroner Dayton held an inquest at the Police Court before six native jurymen to determine the cause of the death of the girl Akahi, who died at the Queen's Hospital Tuesday afternoon. Dr. G. L. Fitch was sworn and stated he was called to the girl first on Monday night between 9 and 10 o'clock. Her left leg was fractured just above the ankle, and gangrene was already extended half-way to the knee. He told those in attendance she must be taken to the hospital. He went to Dr. McKibbin and obtained admittance for her, and she was carried to the hospital about half-past ten o'clock. Saw her again the next morning at the hospital, the gangrene had extended about three inches above the knee. At one o'clock it had reached nearly to the body. Did not see her afterwards.

Thomas Davis testified that the horse she was thrown from belonged to him. It was tame and not a bad animal. I knew her, that is why I let her have it.

Kahuakali stated he picked the deceased up after falling from the horse, put her in an express, and drove her to Dr. Brodie's office. The doctor was not in, so he took her home.

Dr. Robt. McKibbin, sworn, said: Dr. Fitch came to him about the woman and he gave an order for her admission into the hospital, and she was brought there between half-past ten and eleven o'clock Monday evening. Mortification had then extended nearly to the knee. At six o'clock next morning it was above the knee, at 12 o'clock up to the thigh. At that time told her parents there was no hope for her. She died at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of gangrene. The mortification was caused in my opinion by the leg being too tightly bandaged.

The girl told me herself it was bandaged very tightly. If they had left the leg alone the girl would have been alive yet. I believe when she was first picked up, it was a simple fracture. She was in too weak a state to have borne the operation of amputation. In my opinion her death was owing to tight bandaging.

Hehiku stated he was the foster father of Pahele, the younger sister of deceased. She was brought to my house. I got some brandy and bathed the leg with it. I put a loose flannel bandage around, and a towel outside of that soaked with brandy. Bathed it again several times next day. Did not send for a doctor because the girl was afraid. Several other witnesses were called, whose evidence was pretty much the same.

The jury found that the girl came to her death by being thrown from a horse, Saturday evening, April 18th, breaking her left leg, and that she died through the ignorance of those attending her.

LAST NIGHT'S SOCIABLE.

The entertainment and sociable on board the Morning Star last evening was attended by about one hundred and fifty persons, who certainly had a very enjoyable time. The attendance would have been much larger had the weather been more propitious. The exercises were held between deck and consisted of remarks by Capt. Bray and Rev. Arthur Smith, which put everyone present in good humor. Miss May Dillingham gave a recitation, "Morning Star;" Miss Hall, of Punahou, read "Robert of Sicily;" Miss Carrie Castle played a piano solo, and the Misses Dillingham and Jones performed a duet on the piano. After the exercises ice cream and cake were served, and social intercourse ended a very pleasant evening. The sum realized amounted to $81.75, which will be devoted to the Mortlock Mission.

BRITISH BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of the above society was held at the British Club last evening, the President, Major J. H. Wodehouse, in the chair. The Vice-President, Rev. Alex. Mackintosh; Treasurer, Hon. A. S. Cleg-horn; Secretary, Mr. J. A. Kennedy, and quite a large number of members were present. After the minutes of the last meeting had been read, the Secretary and the Treasurer presented their reports, which were accepted. A vote of thanks was passed to the ball committee of last year and they were discharged. The election of officers was next proceeded with. The British Commissioner, Major Wodehouse, remains, of course, President. Two names were presented for Vice-President, Rev. Alex. Mackintosh and Mr. Theo. H. Davies. The former received a majority of votes and was re-elected. The Treasurer and Secretary were re-elected by acclamation. Several cases of relief were settled. It was decided to celebrate Her Majesty Queen Victoria's birthday the same as last year, with a ball in the Music Hall. As the 24th of May falls on a Sunday, the celebration will take place on Monday evening the 25th. A committee of nineteen was appointed to make all the arrangements, with power to add to their number. Mr. J. S. Webb proposed a vote of thanks to the retiring and re-elected officers for past services, which was acquiesced in by all present rising. The meeting then adjourned.

LAST NIGHT'S PERFORMANCE.

"Rosendale" was performed in a generally acceptable manner at the Music Hall last evening, by the San Francisco Dramatic Company. Mr. W. Simms, as Bunbury Kobb, an English squire of the old school, elicited roars of laughter at every appearance. His make-up was perfect, and his acting superb. When he emerged from Tabitha Stork's closet with his face dyed in jam, a rat-trap on one foot, a mouse-trap engaging his finger, a flour-sifter or something clinging to his ear, and a miscellaneous lot of culinary ware in his free hand, the audience became frantic with mirth. Miss Emma Heath was no less thorough in her impersonation of the stern house-keeper, Tabitha Stork, and every time she came upon the stage she was heartily applauded. The scene between her and the squire, when she took his offer of engagement for a housekeeper as one for a wife, was awfully funny in the precise significance of that term—there was awfulness in the woman's wrath, and there was ludicrousness in the squire's utter discomfort. Elliott Gray, the gallant soldier, true friend, and steady but stolid lover, was well acted by Mr. E. T. Stetson. He was impressive to a degree in the tragic passages, and throughout maintained that favor with the audience which has been accorded him from the opening night. Mr. Francis Malcolm acted better than he spoke the part of Col. Cavendish May, as at times those a little way from the stage could only with difficulty make out what he said. Myles McKenna, the unscrupulous ruffian, was personated in good style by Mr. J. P. Rutledge, although his utterance would have befitted the character better if it had been less refined. Mr. James R. Morrison seemed once or twice to have been not too well read in his part as Matthew Leigh, but, otherwise, acted with faithfulness to the character. Miss Minnie Young as Lady Florence May, and Miss H. Ingham as Rose Leigh, did their duties gracefully and well, their elocution being charming as it always is. The gypsy camp scenes were well performed by the company, and a detachment of the King's Own surprising the camp made a rather striking diversion. Mention of an introduction of local talent in the person of Master Willie Herriek must not be omitted. In the role of Master Arthur Leigh he made a decided hit, especially among his young chums in the audience, and his fun with Bunbury Kobb in the ball-room scene closing the play was executed with all the nonchalance of an old stager.

A desire variety that was doubtless appreciated was introduced into the orchestral performance.

The galleries were much too noisy last evening, and patrons would be grateful to the management if the disorderly boys are suppressed for the balance of the season. Mr. Wiseman assures us that such will be done.

TEMPLE OF FASHION.

When this establishment first started it occupied one store, but the increased patronage compelled the management to enlarge, and lately another addition has been made by adding the store formerly occupied by Richardson & Co., and which is given up entirely to clothing and gentlemen's furnishing goods. Every one of the departments of this house is well filled with goods of the highest grade and standard, at low prices. Nothing is neglected or overlooked; the assortments are complete in every particular. Mr. Ehrlich, the manager, recently returned from the Coast with a fine new stock of goods. A millinery department has been opened with Miss Burke, an experienced lady, in charge. Here may be found all the latest styles of ladies' and children's hats, trimmed or untrimmed. There are some beautiful sprays of flowers and tinsel pompons, plumes of most delicate shades, velvets, satins, brocades, ribbons all widths and shades, gold lace, etc. Miss Burke is very busy filling orders at the present time. A peep at the show window on Fort street is well worth the while. In the dry goods department, particular attention is called to a new line of lace curtains and lambrequins at low prices. The clothing and gentlemen's department, presided over by Mr. Goldberg, contains a splendid line of goods. There is clothing for men, youths and boys in all the latest styles. Straw, soft and stiff black and light colored hats. In the furnishing line, neckwear of all kinds, shirts including the well-known Standard make, fine underwear, night shirts fit for a king, collars, cuffs, handkerchiefs linen and silk, driving gloves, suspenders, also fine jewelry, perfumery, boots and shoes, satchels, boys' polo caps, smoking caps, etc., etc. A cordial invitation is extended to all to inspect this fine lot of new goods.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

To-morrow evening the Dramatic Company will present Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's great moral drama, Uncle Tom's Cabin. Mr. Rutledge will play Uncle Tom, Minnie Young Topsy, Willie Simms Marks, and a little girl amateur will appear as Eva. There will be the ice floe in the Ohio, jubilee songs, plantation scenes, melodies by a band of native singers, and grand tableaux. Remember popular prices.

A DEFECTIVE WARRANT.

The case of Wa Leong et al. vs. Marshal Soper occupied the attention of the Supreme Court all of yesterday. It was a suit brought to recover $1,000 damages to goods in searching the plaintiffs' premises, the latter claiming the warrant was defective. It merely stated that the plaintiffs had opium in their possession, the word "unlawfully" being left out. The jury brought in a verdict for plaintiffs for $31.20, the value of the goods damaged in breaking open boxes. A. S. Hartwell for plaintiffs, the Attorney-General for defendant.

ODD FELLOWS' PICNIC.

EXCELSIOR Lodge, I. O. O. F., celebrate the 66th anniversary of the Order, by holding a picnic at Mr. Herbert's seaside residence, Wai-kiki, to-morrow afternoon. It promises to be a grand success, weather permitting. His Excellency W. M. Gibson has kindly consented to allow the Reformatory School Band to play on the occasion. All members of the order, their families and lady friends are cordially invited to attend the picnic.

"What became of Barabbas after Pilate released him?" asked the Sunday-school teacher. "Kept a boarding-house in New Orleans," replied the smart bad boy, whose father had just returned from Mardi Gras.—Brooklyn Eagle.
